30 YEARS OF ART ON ICE – THE GRAND REUNION

To mark its 30th anniversary, Art on Ice is presenting a Swiss ‘best of’ alongside international superstars – fresh, newly interpreted and exclusively for the anniversary show: Noah Veraguth, Stress and Stefanie Heinzmann add emotional depth and unforgettable moments to the programme. Tickets and VIP packages are now available at www.artonice.com.

Since 1996, Art on Ice has defied all predictions and critics to become an award-winning entertainment show. What began as a crazy idea on a boozy evening has become a success story: media professional Reto Caviezel and professional skater Oliver Höner have proven that the combination of world-class figure skating and live music touches and inspires people year after year!

To mark its anniversary, Art on Ice is thanking its fans with a special gift: they were able to vote for their favourite Swiss music act of the last 30 years. Now Art on Ice is bringing the top three acts from the vote back to the stage: Noah Veraguth, who gave audiences goosebumps with Pegasus in 2018; musician Stress, who already wowed audiences this year; and Valais powerhouse Stefanie Heinzmann, who received a standing ovation in 2019. A line-up that couldn't be more fitting for the anniversary! The three are also connected by a close friendship and joint musical projects. That is why they will be performing at Art on Ice 2026 both solo and in various combinations. 'The show was something special for me – the stage, the atmosphere, the audience,' says Veraguth, who is on a farewell tour with Pegasus until the end of 2025. 'Performing with Andres and Stefanie at Art on Ice afterwards is a new chapter for me, but it also feels like coming home.' Show producer Oliver Höner says: 'We're bringing the three of them back because they have shaped our history. But this time, we're staging them in a whole new way. It's a live experience that you have to feel on site to appreciate its full power.'

ICE SKATING STARS STRAIGHT FROM THE OLYMPICS TO ART ON ICE

The best in Switzerland will also be there on the ice: sensational European champion Lukas Britschgi brings power and emotion to his home ice, while 2023 European Championship bronze medallist Kimmy Repond brings elegance and expression. Both are coming straight from the Olympic ice in Milan to Art on Ice!

The international stars from the worlds of music and figure skating will be announced in the coming weeks.
